County schools enforce non-recognition policy

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
Linda Emmel, a Hancock North Central Elementary teacher, was not allowed to speak as a member of the HNC Parent-Teacher Association at a Monday night meeting of the County School Board.

Woodrow Ladner, school board president, said it would be against school board policy to recognize an individual representing an organization. Ladner said at the meeting, "I can't recognize you as a representative of the PTA, but we can recognize you as long as you speak on your own and not on behalf of the organization."

However, the prepared meeting agenda lists Mrs. Emmel as scheduled to appear at the meeting as a representative of the PTA. "The policy regarding groups addressing the board was passed two years ago or longer," the school board president said Wednesday.

An inspection of the county school board policy book found no policy regarding group representatives addressing the school board.

When queried about the policy book Ladner said Wednesday afternoon, "It may not be in the policy book, but it would be in the minutes."

Out-of-court settlement is currently being negotiated in a federal damage suit against the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District by a teacher union and a PTO in that district.

The suit primarily attacks a similar Bay board policy barring group representatives from speaking at board meetings.

Mrs. Emmel told the board Monday night the PTA had collected $5,000 toward the construction of a steel roof covering a portion of the HNC Elementary playground.

"To cover a 90 by 106-foot span the architect said it would cost $40,000—not including footings. The PTA said they could get an additional $5,000 this

Borg-Warner eyes railroad

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
W. Wilson Webre, Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission director, revealed at a Monday County Board of Supervisors meeting that Borg-Warner Chemical Corp. is interested in leasing the Port Bienville Industrial Park Railroad.

"I would like to update the board in regard to negotiations with Borg-Warner for the lease or sale of our railroad," Webre said.

"It is in our best interest to consider a lease with Borg-Warner," Webre stated.

James Travica, District Five supervisor, asked Webre, "Would we have to advertise for bids?"

Webre replied, "We're looking into this and we're looking toward a 25-year lease period."

"They (Borg-Warner) have the ability to expand the railroad and take care of all the industries at Port Bienville in compliance with Interstate Commerce Commission rules," the commission director explained.

In other Port and Harbor business during the Monday morning regular supervisor's meeting, the board:

—Approved waiver of Sections 201 and 206, and modification of Section 202 of the revised protective covenants for the Borg-Warner land sale in the industrial park;

—Approved execution of the warranty deed between the county and Borg-Warner for sale of some 83-acres for $613,700;

—Execution of a release of Economic Development Administration title retention agreement effects on the Borg-Warner property;

—Execution of the warranty deed between the county and Engineered Steel, Inc. for the sale of Lot Nine at Port Bienville for $28,900;

—Accepted a Coastal Machinery Co., Inc. of Gulfport $2,582 bid for the sale of the Port and Harbor's John Deere-300 tractor;

—Accepted Coastal Machinery $9,782 bid for the purchase of a John Deere-301 tractor;

—Approved execution of a sub-lease agreement between the county, Gulf Fishermen, Inc. and Post Seafood, Inc. of Gulfport for a washing and fuel facility occupying 90-feet of dock area at Bayou Cadet Marina; —Approved extension of revised protective covenants for Port Bienville Industrial Park until Jan. 1, 1990.

US-90 businesses object to city services proposal

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Ronnie Artigues, US-90 property owner, reported to the Bay St. Louis Council Tuesday night businessmen are not interested in a front-foot assessment for water service.

Acting as spokesman for the highway businessmen, Artigues said, "We took a poll and the majority of the property owners are not in favor of paying the front-foot assessment for water service and the public hearing scheduled for April 19th is not necessary."

"When the area was annexed in 1967 we were promised water, sewer and fire protection, and all city services and do not feel we should have to pay for water at this time," Artigues continued.

Councilman Fred Wagner told Artigues and the other US-90 businessmen in the audience the City does not have the money to make these capital improvements.

Wagner added, "We made some improvements with monies given to us in the annexed area. It is a matter of having monies to do the projects."

Council President Pete Benvenuti told the group, "In January 1979 we (the Council) heard from a group of engineers vying to be selected as engineer on a street, sewerage and drainage improvements projects for the City. After hearing six firms, we selected an engineering firm to seek Farmers Home Loan Administration (FmHA) loans and grants by a 3-2 vote, and Mayor (Larry) Bennett vetoed the project."

Benvenuti's reply came when the council was pushed on whether it is going to try to help the annexed area residents receive the services promised them.

The US-90 merchants said the City of Waveland seems to have found ways of Laneaux was a member of a crew installing a water line to a new housing project on

Union Street when the mishap occurred. He was taken to Hancock General Hospital by Mobile Medie and transferred to Gulfport Memorial Hospital Wednesday morning. Ada Reid, spokesperson for the Gulfport hospital, said Laneaux is in "fairly good" condition with a knee injury and is scheduled for surgery today. (Staff photo-Ellis Cuevas)

Property owner damages covered by project contractor insurance

Some question was raised about residents of the area in the 500 blocks of Washington, Kellar and Sycamore Streets who had some damages caused by the project.

Brown said, "If there are residents of the area who suffered damages of fences, mail boxes, sidewalks or driveways, I would like to know as the contractor has insurance for those purposes."

Mayor Larry Bennett inquired as to how much longer before the contractor would be completely finished on the project and Brown said only a couple of weeks.

The acceptance of the 1978 Small Cities Project as being substantially completed Tuesday night upon recommendation of Joe Brown, III of Brown Engineers, Inc.

Board attorney Joseph Gex reminded the council that they substantially accept the operation of the system.

It was also passed by the same margin a vote for an extension for the contractor on the project, as recommended by Brown.

Farve commented, "I wasn't in favor of any change order, I think the contractor dragged his feet during the whole contract and I am not in favor of any extension."

In other business, Dr. Michael Smith, president of Advanced Developments, reported the painting of the two water towers as being completed on the exterior.

Smith mentioned the fact that there was a slight problem with the water tower interior painting inside the tank at North Bay caused by a leaking valve.

Smith stated, "I made the contractor do over the interior of the tank completely."

Wagner questioned the complaints about the taste and smell of water being received from residents.

"We received some calls even before the water tanks were placed on the line. The State Board of Health checked out numerous complaints and have taken samples. All checks say the water is o.k.," Smith said.

The engineer then said, "Some people can taste and smell paint probably in the water like they would in their home if it were just painted."

Council authorized the payment of the contractor on the exterior painting and security fencing of the two towers upon recommendation by Smith.

Jimmy Chiniche, engineer submitted a completed report on drainage recommendations as requested by the Council for sections of North Bay St. Louis.

In other drainage problems, a discussion was held on the addition of another culvert on Ulman Avenue with

Insurance suggested

County may face loss of immunity

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
Walter Gex, Hancock County Board of Supervisor's attorney, informed the board Monday the county may no longer be immune from damage suits and recommended a liability insurance program for the county.

"The case of Owens vs. the City of Independence, Mo. has created a problem of exposure to the county. With these thoughts in mind I would recommend liability insurance for the county," Gex stated.

"I think the county should seek out a liability program because before we've had a shield of immunity. Before, we had a proprietary function," the board attorney reported. "The case involved a municipality, but the court made several statements so there isn't much doubt left. In my opinion this will effect all governmental agencies," Gex said.

"One county said what they have is a motor vehicle and equipment insurance liability," Gex added.

In other business, at the 9 a.m. regular meeting at the County Courthouse, the board:

—Authorized the financing of a $20,000 loan with Hancock Bank for a new District Four tractor, grass cutter and ditching attachment;

—Authorized a $100 donation to the Hancock Emergency Radio Organization for an all-channel Coast Guard frequency radio which will be mounted at the Waveland Police Department;

—Authorized Gulf Regional Planning Commission as the county's representative to meet with the Bureau of Marine Resources and any agency involved with the Coastal Zone Management Program as requested by Ronnie Murray, GRPC local representative;

—Authorized six changes to the tax rates;

—Approved reappointing Ames

Kergosien of Bay St. Louis to the County Planning Commission as requested by Roger Dale Ladner, District Three supervisor;

—Approved the county's affirmative action plan for an equal employment policy as recommended by GRPC;

—Accepted Stinson Fence Co.'s $2,326 low bid for construction of a baseball park backstop in District Three;

—Received the monthly trailer permit list;

—Heard a report from Circuit Clerk Henry Otis that a June 3 primary will have three Democratic candidates vying for Trent Lott's U.S. Congressional seat as well as a Republican presidential primary election between Ronald Reagan and George Bush. Otis also reported the general election is Nov. 4 and he will be giving voting machine demonstrations to several groups;

—Heard a report from Ladner that he wants to move the Seller's School voting precinct to the new community center at the Hwy. 603 and 53 intersection. Otis advised Ladner to wait until after the June election because a voting precinct move requires federal approval;

Mobile Medic, the Hancock County Sheriff's Department, and Bay St. Louis Police and Fire Departments responded to the call.

Positive cause of death will not be known until Hancock County Coroner Carl Banderet completes a coroner's inquest, Hancock County Sheriff Ronald A. Peterson said Wednesday. Saucier was commander of the Clement R. Bon Temps American Legion Post 139 of Bay St. Louis. He was installed as commander July 13, 1978.

BLENDING TRADITION AND PROGRESS

In 1920, Ernest T. Riemann, Sr. and Mrs. Ruth Riemann, came to the Gulf Coast and began what is now Riemann Funeral Homes. Spanning three generations, Riemanns has expanded its facilities and services.

From our first location on 25th Ave. in Gulfport, we built the first Riemann chapel in Pass Christian in 1946 and in 1961, the original Fahey business of Bay St. Louis was bought and is now operated as Riemann-Fahey. The construction of our Long Beach Chapel was completed in 1962 and our Edgewater Chapel established in 1963. The Riemann Insurance Company headquarters building was built in 1964 and our Riemann Memorial Chapel on Highway 49 North in Gulfport in 1976.

For 60 years, we have been dedicated to keeping our services and facilities up to date. While we are proud of our equipment, we know that funeral service is a matter of people helping people. Blending tradition and progress has been the Riemann way for 60 years.

We make the same commitment to the future.

FIRST-HOME MYTHS

A national study done by the Chicago-based Family Housing Bureau dispels a lot of myths about the buying of first homes. Here's a few.

MYTH: First-time home buyers have been driven out of the market by escalating costs. FACT: The survey showed that 44 percent of today's home buyers are first-time buyers.

MYTH: Young people cannot afford homes anymore. FACT: Eighty seven percent of first-time buyers are younger than 35 with the average age being 28.

MYTH: Costs for single-family homes have risen so sharply that most home buyers are turning to multi-family solutions. FACT:

Ninety percent of first-time home buyers choose single family home, 7 percent choose multi-family homes.

MYTH: Most home buyers now spend more on mortgage payments than the recommended 1/4 of total income. FACT: One quarter of the current crop of first time buyers fall into the 1/4 rule of thumb category. # Supervisors withdraw $15,000 for Main Street repaving work

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
Some $15,000 in emergency funds to resurface several blocks of Main Street in Bay St. Louis previously authorized by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors were withdrawn by the board Monday.

The supervisors rescinded their April 14 action after the Bay St. Louis City Council failed to pass a unanimous declaration required by state law to receive emergency funds.

The city council declared Main Street an emergency in a 3-2 vote during an April 16 meeting.

A.A. (Dolph) Kellar, board president, said, "There's no way the board can participate without a unanimous vote from Bay St. Louis."

"We need to rescind our action," Kellar added.

KILN STREET DAMAGE
Regarding Kiln area roads being damaged by crews laying water lines for the Hancock County Water and Fire Protection District, District Four Supervisor Sam Perniciaro stated Monday, "The Water and Fire Protection District is responsible for all damages to county roads."

BEAT FOUR ROAD PROBLEMS
Perniciaro also reported three roads damaged by private interests in his district.

"Oil companies have damaged asphalt on Bayou LaCroix Road and are

ANSLEY ROAD PROBLEMS
Two of 10 Ansley residents who appeared at a supervisor's meeting three weeks ago were back at Monday's meeting again requesting District One Supervisor Bert Courge's assistance to repair a road leading to LaFrance's Fishing Camp.

Courge informed the residents that Donn Murray, assistant to County Engineer Lawrence Seal, was conducting a study of the roadway.

Mrs. Otto Williams said, "We understood on April 14 we would have the study completed in three weeks."

Courge reiterated that the matter was being studied by Murray.

Mrs. Williams replied, "So you don't know what you're going to do."

Courge said, "I called the county school bus driver you said would not travel down your road because of the poor condition you said it was in."

"I spoke with a Mr. Leech and he said the road was rough, not boggy. I think causing deep ruts on the Texas Flat Road," the District Four supervisor said.

"Trucks hauling fill to one of the new Waveland shopping center sites have damaged the pavement on the Kiln-Picayune Road," Perniciaro stated.

"We're now asking the companies responsible for road damage to pay for at least one-third of the damages," Perniciaro added.

you should contact the County School Board about that," the District One supervisor said.

Mrs. Violet Stewart stated, "What does the school board have to do with roads?"

"Why can't you pull the dirt out of the ditches and put it on the road while it's not raining," Mrs. Stewart asked Courge.

Courge again replied, "Mr. Murray is making a study to see what we should do. I know we need to build up your road and if we can afford to do this, we will."

BEACH ROAD FUNDS
Regarding the status of $700,000 in approved Beach Road funds, Seal said Monday the federal funds would not be available unless a supplemental appropriation was available.

"All of the money budgeted for this fiscal year has been expended," Seal added.

Seal reported at a previous board meeting that federal funds for the beach road project would not be available until October.

The supervisors received a copy of an April Hancock County Chamber of Commerce resolution to the U.S. Department of Transportation requesting the immediate dispersal of $700,000 designated for Beach Road repairs.

The resolution cited the Beach Road as a vital traffic artery serving Buccaneer State Park, Bayou Cadet Marina, Clermont Harbor, Lakeshore, Waveland and Bay St. Louis, as well as being a safety hazard.

In another Beach Road matter, the supervisors directed the county engineer to prepare a bid advertisement utilizing $8,300 of federal funds received for Beach Road damage sustained after Hurricane Fredrick.

Seal said, "Hancock County has to complete all work for these funds before Oct. 16, 1980."

Kellar asked Seal, "Could you use a forced (emergency) account?"

The county engineer replied, "If the law says we can use a forced account, we will."

Kellar requested, "Could you find out how we could do this?"

Courge added, "The cleanup on the beach was supposed to be included in this."

Seal stated, "You can't get anyone interested in a complicated project for $8,000."

Kellar said, "I think you're going to have to do that inspection report on what they're asking for."

Courge added, "I think we should advertise to show proof we can't do it (the beach repairs) for that amount of money."

The county engineer replied, "I spent all day writing a three-page letter for an extension of time on the $8,300."

"Courge said, 'I think we could use the money for some of the concrete.'"

Seal explained, "We could put in the advertisement that we'll put in only $8,300... of course there's going to be about an $800 engineering fee."

Murray stated, "We could put this in a force account in an emergency situation."

Gex said, "All public work has to go out on advertisement."

Courge reported, "I don't think you could fill the drop-offs with $8,300."

"If we authorize advertising now when could we get the specifications," Courge inquired.

Kellar said, "Why don't we advertise and we will draw up the plans and specifications for the next meeting."

PAVING CONTRACT AWARDED
The supervisors awarded a $284,405 federal revenue sharing contract to Pearl River Paving Co. of Picayune to pave 21 roads in Beats Two and Five.

Beat Two roads are Roy Breland, Theo Bilbo, Jones, Goss, Bond and Tommy Dossett Roads.

Beat Three roads are Elaine, Edith, Azalea, Riverview, Hollywood, Lake, Helen, Janette, Bonny and Garden Drives, Scianna and McLaughlin Streets, Fairgrounds and Shipyard Roads, and First Avenue.

HIGH ASPHALT PRICES
Gex informed the board Monday some of the asphalt bids received were higher than the state bid price.

After a lengthy discussion between Gex, Seal, Murray Kellar and Courge it was determined the bid prices included putting the material in place, and the county would have to accept the low bid.

Seal said, "The only thing is that the type of asphalt was not specified."

The county engineer noted different grades of asphalt are used for different surfaces.

ASCS Report

Franklin A. Genin, county executive director of the Pearl River Hancock County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) office, said under current law the support price for manufacturing grade milk has been increased from $11.22 to $12.07 per hundredweight.

This represents an 85 cent-per-hundredweight increase of milk with an average milkfat content of 3.5 percent," he said.

According to Genin, the law required the milk support price to be adjusted semi-annually to reflect the estimated change in the index of price paid by farmers for commodities and services, interest, taxes and wage rates during the first half of the marketing year. That index increased 7.6 percent in the last six months.

Under the dairy price support program, the government buys butter, cheese and non-fat dry milk to enable manufacturing plants, on the average, to pay producers at least the support price for their milk.

To avoid unnecessary worry about the loss of 1980 farm program benefits, the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) recommends that farmers request measurement service of their acreages before planting.

"This service is offered to assure farmers that they are in compliance with program regulations, and that their acreage reports are accurate."

For a fee (based on the number of acres to be measured) ASCS will guarantee field sizes and help farmers plan which fields to plant to various crops.

"The service consists of measuring applicable fields that ASCS measures the land or crop and the farm operators report their crop acreages to our office when planting is completed," Genin said. To be eligible for 1980 program benefits, these reports must be accurate, he said.

To request measurement service, farmers may call or visit the local ASCS office at 103 West Cumberland Street, Poplarville, Mississippi or call 601-795-4932.

Bits 'n pieces

It was good news coming out of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors meeting Monday on all out efforts for a new Hancock County jail.

A new jail is something Hancock County has needed for many years. We hope funds can be found for such an undertaking.

We have mentioned many times the need of a new jail and hope that it will be a regional facility for the sheriff, Bay St. Louis and Waveland departments.

There is a need of a new jail and we are happy it is recognized by our elected officials.

Summer is around the corner, the old bathing suits are coming out of moth balls.

The big thing in our area this summer is the opening of our multi-million dollar swimming pool at Buccaneer State Park in Waveland.

The Wave Pool at Buccaneer is something not too many areas can boast. We hope you will make the official grand opening Saturday at 10 a.m.

We looked over the pool again last Saturday and the waves sure looked inviting.

It is our understanding the pool will be open weekends until school is out then it will be open also during the week.

This is Clean Air Week and we as individuals can do several things to help in this area.

We are told one of the big violators of clean air is our automotive transportation.

We can have our vehicles checked for emission, because if our emission controls are not working properly we could be doing all types of polluting.

One way to cut down on pollution would be to leave our vehicles parked in the garage. That way we could save in several other ways, such as on gasoline consumption.

Of late we have noticed fewer people driving and more walking and riding bicycles in our communities, which we think is a start.

One thing our Wave Pool has done for us is get us some national publicity.

The visit last week by some of the Miss USA contestants will be shown all over the nation.

Our area is growing and proper guidance in that growth will mean a better county for us all.

Our youth have a better opportunity of finding a good job at home when they finish school today than graduates a decade ago.

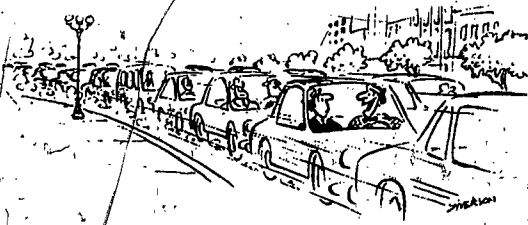

Many folks involved in the oil and gas production and mineral leases are interested in the 23,000-foot gas and sulfur well being drilled in the Waveland field.

It is the deepest attempt as yet in the county and we understand it is right in the center of the Waveland field which has been producing both gas and oil for several years.

In talking to a local person having ownership in some of the property involved in the deep well, he said he was happy to have Chesley Pruett Drilling Company doing the well.

One of the reasons he gave was because they are experienced in deep well activities and have the knowledge it takes in such a venture.

We hope the deep well will be as successful as the 13-14,000 foot producers have been in recent years.

News from the office of Governor Winter

The Department of Energy has notified Governor William Winter that no decision will be made on storing nuclear waste in south Mississippi salt domes unless state officials are consulted in the matter.

Governor Winter had earlier requested that the energy department suspend its investigation of nuclear waste sites in Mississippi.

In a letter to the governor, Sheldon Meyers, deputy assistant secretary of energy for nuclear waste management, said the department plans a six to nine-month delay in additional studies at salt domes in Perry and Marion Counties.

Meyers said the department should finish tests already underway by mid May. He said no new studies will begin until the state has the opportunity to review all information gathered by the DOE.

In a March 25 letter to Meyers, Winter asked that further testing be delayed until the information could be submitted to the state.

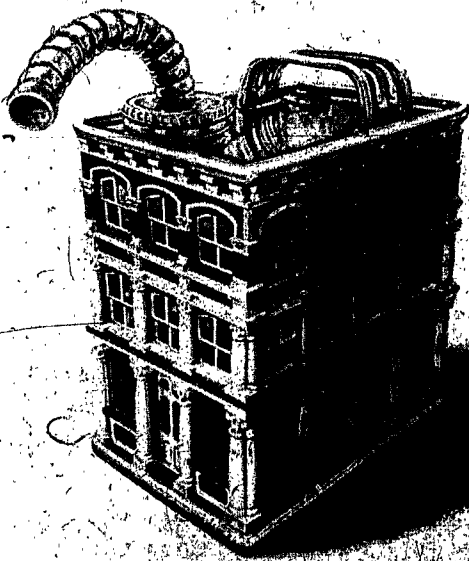

Section 17-17-49 of the Mississippi Code empowers the governor to request the information. The section says that the results of any such studies shall be made to the division of radiological health of the state Board of Health, the Mississippi Mineral Resources Institute, the Department of Natural Resources and the governor.

The law says the governor and the Department of Natural Resources shall then determine the advisability of the disposal.

It takes energy to construct a new building.
It takes energy to preserve an old one.

GIVE INCENTIVES TO SAVE.

Washington Report

By REP. TRENT LOTT
5th District, Mississippi

"Save for a rainy day" is some familiar advice, actually wise advice that Americans heeded for years to become known as hard workers and frugal savers.

But recent statistics show that Americans are saving less and less of their incomes to the point that in the third quarter of 1979 the percentage of total income saved dropped to 4.1 percent. It is the lowest savings rate of any industrialized country.

Inflation has drawn the blame as the major culprit behind this situation. Due to surging prices for virtually every product and service, people are buying now because they feel costs will keep going up.

But beyond the cost factor lies another reason why Americans are saving so little of their income: the lack of incentive to place hard-earned dollars in the bank, a local savings and loan association or credit union.

While inflation rages at 18 percent, saving has simply become a losing proposition for many people. Traditional passbook accounts just can't keep up with the inflation rate. Even "money market" certificates are having a tough time, though they are more attractive for many people than regular accounts.

One of the most curious things is the surprise of some federal officials that the American people haven't saved more. The President has expressed his concern that the problem is with the spirit of the people, that there is a reluctance to save.

I don't think the lack of savings is due so much to a reluctance as it is to the sorry state of the federal tax code. Ours is the only western nation that taxes the interest citizens receive on their savings account. One penalty is that your money is taxed twice, once when you earn it and again when you earn interest on it.

Then the President came forward with his ill-conceived plan to levy a withholding tax on interest income as part of his inflation fighting proposal. That one was met with predictable outrage.

I believe the solution rests with changing the tax code to encourage savings, and some progress has been made in this regard. In the law now is an exemption from tax for the first $400 in interest earned by a married couple on money in a savings account.

In the bill is a proposal to end the so-called marriage penalty which treats married couples and single individuals unfairly. Soon, I hope Congress takes up the issue of giving a tax credit to those who deposit money into an account for the purpose of buying a home.

I also hope Congress will enact a substantial tax cut this year.

Encouraging the American people to save is a concern of federal officials because savings are closely linked to economic growth. Increased savings provide the capital to finance investment in homes, factories and equipment.

That, in turn, leads to modernization of plants, new jobs, higher incomes and a better way of life.

Senator Thad Cochran

SPECIAL REPORT:
Aboard the Coral Sea

I am beginning to have serious doubts about the wisdom of a policy which assumes for the United States the sole responsibility for patrolling and defending the sea lanes of the Arabian Sea.

Thousands of our sailors and marines and two carrier groups are now operating at great expense to the United States in this area with no visible support or assistance from any other nation.

Immediately following the seizure of our embassy in Iran, it was understandable that a positioning of forces was urgently needed to enable us to at least have the option of military action against the militants who had taken Americans as hostages.

Likewise, after Russia moved into Afghanistan, the need to be prepared to resist with force any effort to take over oil fields, interrupt oil shipments or carry the invasion into other countries was evident.

Now, however, it appears that further Russian incursions in the area are unlikely at this time and the threat to oil supplies and sea lanes appears no worse than it has been for several years. The question arises, why can't others who have vital interests in this area of the world help pay the cost and otherwise share some of the burden of protecting and defending the interests of the free world in that area?

Although we import a lot of oil from the region, it makes up only 30 percent of our total oil imports.

Last year, 67 percent of Japan's imports of crude petroleum moved through the Straits of Hormuz from the Persian Gulf to the Arabian Sea. Nearly 50 percent of French imports and 37 percent of West German imports of crude oil originated in the Persian Gulf. Nonetheless, Japan, France, and West Germany are allowing the U.S. to carry the burden of military costs and duties in the Persian Gulf region. At least France has moved an aircraft carrier into the Mediterranean to relieve some pressures caused by U.S. ships moving to the Arabian Sea.

The fall of the government in Iran has made the old policy of using local military forces as a dependable line of defense to protect the interests of the oil importers, including the United States, obsolete.

A new policy is evolving out of the current crisis. My strong hope is that we insist that those whose interests are the same as ours must share in the defense of those interests.

I recently visited with many of our servicemen on duty in the Arabian Sea aboard the aircraft carrier USS Coral Sea. They have been on station for several weeks and will spend a full three months at sea before they can enter any port for liberty or time off.

One of my thoughts while I was with them was, where are our NATO allies? The Western Alliance ought to include a responsibility to help protect mutual interests in the Persian Gulf/Arabian Sea area.

President Carter is now presenting this matter to our NATO friends, and I enthusiastically support these efforts to spread the responsibility around which we are now shouldering by ourselves.

Another thought I had on the Coral Sea was that all Americans would probably enjoy being able to thank our sailors and marines for doing this job. They are really good at it — flying the planes, operating the catapults, sailing the ships.

I told those I saw from Mississippi and from around the country that we all appreciate the fine job they are doing. I'm determined, too, to try to get them some help out there.

HNC patron asks special fund audit

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Woodrow Ladner, Hancock County School Board president, halted discussion Monday night regarding funds collected by Hancock North Central High School students two years ago to purchase a "Leaper" exercise machine.

After Ladner stopped a heated discussion of the matter, the school board retreated into executive session. School patron Vernon Ladner appeared at the Monday regular meeting with an unsigned letter asking parents allow their children to sell a cleaning product to raise money for the exercise machine.

"April, 1978 HNC Principal Thad Haskins called all of the basketball children together and asked them to sponsor a program to sell a product. Haskins said the money would be used to buy a Leaper exercise machine," Vernon Ladner reported.

"We're asking the school board if it will authorize an audit and find out the status of the account to purchase the machine," Vernon Ladner said.

"I think we're entitled to an audit so we can get the funds to purchase this machine," Vernon Ladner stated.

"Haskins sent this letter to every parent and we went to a meeting where we discussed this project," Vernon Ladner said.

"Haskins was unavailable for comment Wednesday afternoon.

Vernon Ladner added, "I think with a new principal coming in we need to clear the air."

Louie Ladner, school board member, stated, "We publish an audit of funds every month. I think we need to discuss this with Haskins."

Another school patron said, "Haskins met with us personally about this project."

Vernon Ladner reiterated, "The parents went all out and raised money, so I think we deserve an audit."

Board President Ladner stated, "I'm not going to allow any more discussion on this matter at this time, but I will ask Haskins to come and talk to us about this. We will look into this."

Vernon Ladner explained, "The machine's cost, at that time was $1,080 and we raised over $250 at another meeting before we turned over $750."

Louie Ladner reiterated, "Our books are continually audited."

The board then voted to enter into executive session.

He said HNC students and parents collected the money and the funds were never used. (Staff photo by Wayne Ducomb Jr.)

$32,000 asked

Murtagh seeking reappraisal funds

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Edward D. Murtagh Jr., Hancock County assessor-tax collector, requested a $32,000 budget increase for the next five months at a Monday meeting of the county's Board of Supervisors.

Murtagh requested the increase to begin listing and measuring all improved parcels in platted subdivisions—a first step toward reappraisal.

However, as recommended by Board Attorney Walter Gex, the supervisors did not approve the budget increase because of pending legislation which would fund new reappraisal projects.

The assessor said, "We can hire some very good personnel at minimum wage. I now have people working minimum wage."

"We need drafting tables, sufficient cabinets, work space, desks, chairs, etc.," Murtagh explained.

Gex asked, "Would this preclude the use of something like this by Houston Evans (a reappraisal consultant from Jackson who recently presented a plan to supervisors for countywide reappraisal)."

Murtagh replied, "He (Evans) said he would see we would be doing this right."

Drainage.....

Mayor Bennett saying the culvert is now in.

The delegation from Spanish Acres appeared before the Council seeking a temporary exit from the subdivision since there is a need of replacing approximately 300 feet of sewer line.

Charlie Hirstius, spokesman for the subdivision residents, stated, "There are several homes with sewer breaks needing attention."

Resident Bob Gavagine mentioned the fact that there was a line of hose

Gex said, "There's a current piece of legislation pending and in the event this piece of legislation offers funding I would like to see us not do anything today."

"Is Eddie's (Murtagh) budget sufficient so we could amend his budget later," Gex asked?

E. Michael Necaise, chancery clerk, asked, "Could we add on two mills?"

Bert Courge, District One supervisor, replied, "We can't do this until September."

Gex explained, "We're at this point and I thought if you (Murtagh) could institute the program for one month and next month we (the supervisors) could amend the budget—the board wouldn't take any additional steps."

Murtagh said, "I've had many sleepless nights because of this program and the late George Heitzmann (former assessor-tax collector) had problems with this program too."

Gex reported, "What we're trying to do is staff your office so we can complete what the law requires."

Courge stated, "They said the legislation would be passed today or tomorrow."

Gex said, "I want to see the program go and I advocate it with everybody,

Officials request new county jail

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors Monday authorized Gulf Regional Planning Commission to seek assistance from the National Institute of Corrections—Jail Center in Boulder, Colo., in planning a new jail facility here.

Walter Gex, board attorney, reported at the board's regular meeting, "We anticipate presenting the same resolution to Bay St. Louis and Waveland. They have indicated to us they will approve the resolution."

Gex said Bay St. Louis and Waveland approval of the same resolution is necessary because both towns use the county's jail facilities.

The supervisor's resolution states the National Institute assists municipalities with the planning, construction or renovating jail facilities.

The resolution also cites, "...a totally new jail is dictated (needed)."

Gex explained, "We are requesting assistance in planning new jail facilities."

Regarding the county's youth court, the board also authorized its president to sign for federal and state funds approved for the youth court administrator.

A letter from the executive director of the State Criminal Justice Planning Division reported the county would receive $9,394 in federal funds and $521 in state funds.

E. Michael Necaise, chancery clerk, reported in reference to the county's application for emergency funding to repair damages resulting from severe April storms, "We put all of the appropriate documents in the proper state official's hands Saturday and they said we would receive word on the funds later."

Sam Pernicaro, District Four supervisor, said, "The state officials said Hancock County presented the best documentation out of all the counties."

A. A. (Dolph) Kellar, board president, said state officials made the same comments about a previous application and funds were denied.

Regarding Charles Black's renting of sailboats on the beach near Buccaneer State Park, Mary Caillier, representing the Clermont Harbor Civic Association said, "He's causing an awful dumping problem and it's a big mess."

"When he came before the board requesting a permit for his sailboat business you told him to talk with Waveland about it," Caillier reported.

Bert Courge, District One supervisor, said, "I told him I didn't have any objection if he rented boats on the beach."

"We have no ordinances to regulate this type of business on the beach and in Harrison County they sell everything out on the beach," Courge stated.

"It's not a permanent installation," the District One supervisor added.

Kellar said, "The city can pass an ordinance, but the county has no jurisdiction in that area."

James Travira, District Four supervisor, asked, "Does he have a license to operate his business?"

Edward Murtagh, tax assessor-collector replied, "He should have a privilege license."

Caillier stated, "Buccaneer Park ran him out."

Kiln Library offers unique lending service

A unique service is now being offered by the Hancock County Library System.

Beginning this week, patrons of the Kiln Branch Library will be able to check out sewing patterns just like they now check out books and records.

Patrons will also be able to "swap" patterns, that is, a patron can donate one or more patterns to the collection and take the same number.

Prima Wusnack, Library System director, said, "As far as we know, our library system is the only one along the Coast that offers such a service. The idea of offering patterns for loan was the brainchild of our Kiln librarian, Grace Rhodes. We think it will be much-used service."

The Kiln Library is located on Hwy. 603 just north of the caution light. The Library is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday.

For more information, call the Kiln Library at 255-1724 or the headquarters Library in Bay St. Louis at 467-5282.

City services.....

securing monies to offer services to its annexed areas.

The big gripe by the group is the fact that 13 years have passed and they supposed to have the services in five years.

Benvenutti commented, "We are the fourth administration since you were annexed - if you would have gotten on some of their backs you would have had some action."

"When I checked back on the records, I was shocked to find the things promised to the annexed areas which have not been fulfilled," Benvenutti stated.

Artigues allowed, "I think the Council should get one project and stick with it. The people of Spanish Acres have a very serious problem."

In reference to Benvenutti's comment about Mayor Bennett vetoing the hiring of an engineer firm in 1979 for seeking funds for water, sewerage and drainage in the annexed area through FmHA, the Sea Coast Echo issue of Feb. 18, 1979 states:

"...The mayor has vetoed a motion which carried by a 3-2 vote at the Council's regular February meeting."

"The motion was for hiring of the firm of Brown Engineers, Inc. to submit a preliminary proposal and application for an FmHA loan for the City of Bay St. Louis."

"Councilman James Thriffley, Pete

Benvenutti and Fred Wagner were in favor with Harry Farve and Wilmer Seymour voting against the hiring of Brown."

"Mayor Bennett was in Washington attending the National Association Regional Council meeting at the time of the Council action."

"The mayor filed his veto with the City Clerk stating three reasons for his action."

"1. Broadway and Seal Engineering of Picayune are months ahead in the preparation of the engineering plans by way of a preliminary study they have made on the project at no cost to the city."

"2. That the City of Bay St. Louis is in a financial crisis in view of the judgement still pending against it and that every penny should be watched in regard to unnecessary spending."

"3. The above mentioned firm has done previous engineering work for the city to everyone's satisfaction and I have thoroughly checked them out with other governmental entities and they are highly recommended. It is not that I cannot work with other firms, but since the mayor's office has to deal with the daily routine problems of the project, I feel that I should have someone that has proven a harmonious working relationship with us in the past year."

During Tuesday night's meeting someone mentioned the City is spending so much for engineering fees now and not getting anything done, but was previously offered free services by an engineering firm if funding was not received.

Benvenutti quitted the group by saying, "All I am going to say is check with the code of ethics for engineers in Jackson."

At an April 2, 1980 meeting the Council was unanimous in a vote to hire Brown Engineers, Inc. to file a FmHA preapplication for loan and grant monies for water and sewer service to all the areas of the city not on the system and another preapplication for water and sewer service to all the areas not served by the city. The loan and grant request will also include street restoration as the Council indicated no more water and sewerage work would be done without also restoring the streets which are torn up during the project.

used to pump sewerage from one manhole to another which is leaking. There is a big puddle and it stinks very bad, he said.

Gavagine reported, "A city worker put five gallons of detergent or something in it on Sunday, but the foul odor is still there as the water is still standing."

Another resident complained about the well pointing used to break sewer leaks being pumped into the streets as it is also of foul odor as it contains sewerage.

Hirstius made some recommendations as to how the city could for a small sum of money help the drainage problems by installing larger culverts in several key areas.

A discussion was held as to who was more important, 97 families or dollars.

Council member James Thriffley

SENIOR CITIZEN HAPPENINGS

By EVE McDONALD

Open House Success
We were very pleased with the turnout for our open house Tuesday. Thank all of you for coming, and all of you who displayed your work. I know you are almost as proud of yourselves as we are.

Manieri's Art Exhibit
Tuesday May 13 at 10 we are sponsoring a reception for Mrs. Eva Manieri at City Hall in Bay St. Louis as the showing of her paintings opens.

Come and see the lovely work Eva has done in the short time she has been painting. We think she has the makings of a Grandma Moses!

Some of these paintings will be for sale too, so if you need an original in your home, this is a good time to choose one.

Community Forums
We will be sponsoring community forums similar to those RSVP is sponsoring, but ours will relate to programs for the elderly rather than for volunteers.

WE ARE NOT COMPETING WITH RSVP we will encourage volunteers to attend those meetings, but we have decided to have our own meetings for other interests.

All agencies who work with Senior Citizens are being encouraged to have Community Forums to make sure that all Senior Citizens have input into things that will be done for and by them in the coming years. We will hold our Forums later in the summer.

Mark Your Calendars
The Center will be closed Monday, May 26 for Memorial Day. We will have the birthday games for prizes Tuesday, May 27-3 p.m.

May 18 through the 24 there will be a Senior Citizens Art Show at the Edgewater Mall. Our participants will be displaying (and selling) their pictures there.

Be sure and look them over when you are in Biloxi.

Friday, May 23 will be a Special Crafts Sale at the Mall as part of the art show. If you have crafts you wish to sell, call me at the Center at 467-9292.

TSP offering handicapped swimming instructor class

An adaptive aquatics aide class will be offered by Therapy Swimming Program, Inc. on May 16, 17 and 18. All individuals interested in volunteering to teach swimming with TSP this summer should attend this class.

VA questions and answers

Q-My husband received an honorable discharge after several months of service at the end of World War II. He is now disabled by an illness unrelated to his service. Is he eligible for a Veterans Administration pension?

A-If he served at least 90 days between Dec. 17, 1941, and Dec. 31, 1946, is permanently and totally disabled and has income within the limits set by law, he qualifies. Check with VA for full details.

Q-Can losing costs be included in the amount of money the government guarantees for a GI home loan?

A-No. All such costs must be paid in cash.

Q-I am a GI Bill student in need of some help from a tutor and I understand the Veterans Administration provides such help. Will these extra payments reduce the GI Bill time I have coming to me?

A-No. VA will pay up to $69 a month for tutoring, to a maximum amount of $828, with no charge against your basic entitlement to training.

Q-I receive a pension from the Veterans Administration. Since I am over 65, I am automatically considered disabled. Does my age mean that I am also exempt from having to report income increases that might affect my pension?

A-No. Your pension is based on the amount of total income you receive and you must report increases. This is true even though you remain under the "old" law and do not receive an income questionnaire from VA.

Q-How long after the death of a veteran does a survivor have to request a burial allowance from the Veterans Administration?

A-The claim must be filed within two years after the veteran's permanent burial or cremation. This may be done at the nearest VA benefits office.

SBA loans available to Hancock residents

Individuals, families and businesses in Hancock County who suffered losses to personal belongings or real property as a result of the recent tornado and storms may qualify for a long-term, low-interest disaster loan from the Small Business Administration (SBA).

SBA loan funds are available for that portion of damages not covered by insurance. The purpose of the loan is to aid in returning property, as nearly as possible, to a pre-disaster condition.

Unlike other disaster programs SBA assistance is available in those counties declared a disaster area by the President as well as any adjacent counties to those declared.

The counties of Adams, Amite, Covington, Forrest, Franklin, George, Greene, Hancock, Harrison, Jackson, Jefferson, Jefferson Davis, Jones, Lamar, Lawrence, Lincoln, Marion, Pearl River, Perry, Pike, Stone, Walthall and Wilkinson are eligible to receive SBA assistance.

Eligibility is determined by three criteria:

1. Damages must have occurred as a direct result of the tornado or severe storms which began on or about March 28th.

2. Applicants must have an ability in SBA's judgement to repay the loan, and

3. The losses in question must either be uninsured or insured inadequately.

Persons with prior SBA disaster loans can borrow as long as any required flood insurance policies are still in effect.

J.B. Alexander, SBA Branch Manager in Biloxi stated that SBA is anxious to help, to any extent possible, persons who may need their assistance. "Do not assume that you have too much or too little income to qualify for a disaster loan," said Alexander. He added that SBA personnel will provide answers to any questions regarding eligibility.

Homeowners may borrow up to $50,000 for structural repairs and $10,000 for personal property loss, for a combined maximum of $65,000. Renters may borrow up to $10,000 to replace damaged or destroyed personal belongings. The interest rate on residence and personal property loans is three percent.

Businesses may receive direct SBA disaster loans of up to $50,000. The interest rate on business disaster loans where credit is not obtainable at a reasonable rate from private sources and where refinancing is not involved, is five percent. Those businesses which, in SBA's judgement can obtain funds from non-federal sources but choose to borrow from SBA will carry an 8 1/4 percent interest rate.

Economic injury assistance is also available at 8 1/4 percent to eligible businesses needing working capital to meet obligations which could have been met had the disaster not occurred. All funds used for refinancing of existing mortgages will have an interest rate of 8 1/4 percent. This interest rate also applies to secondary dwellings.

Disaster assistance from SBA is available for the following categories: primary and secondary residences, personal belongings, rental property, mobile homes, businesses, farms, churches, non-profit organizations and privately-owned institutions.

SBA personnel are available to distribute applications and answer any questions concerning the loan program in the National Guard Armory, 33rd Avenue and 17th Street, Gulfport. Hours: Monday through Friday 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

For further information call the disaster hotline collect at (601) 432-7004.

MISSISSIPPI WEEKLY WEATHER & CROP REPORT

Warm dry weather across Mississippi has encouraged a lot of farmers to catch up on badly needed field preparations, except in the Delta along the still flooded Mississippi river.

Anticipation of the good weather also helped move a lot of cattle off rye grass fields and the week's volume through the auctions was the largest of the year.

The liberal movement put a damper on prices and most of the advances of the previous week were lost.

Fed cattle moved upward in spite of a soft sluggish meat trade. Butcher hogs were very erratic, due in part to the delivery of around 200 commodity contracts at the major centers. This is the second consecutive week slaughter has exceeded two million head.

coming year," Mrs. Emmel said. "The architect said an eight percent inflation figure was added to the price of the building," Mrs. Emmel added. Board President Ladner suggested, "Maybe we should look at pouring footings now."

The board president explained the school board was planning to pour concrete eventually, furnishing basketball courts for the elementary students.

Louie Ladner, school board member, said, "Standard steel buildings are 100 feet by 90 feet—maybe we could have the forms redone for this size building."

Board President Ladner stated, "We will get with the architect on this.

Choose car mechanic carefully, area consumer specialist advises

"MONEY TALK"
By Norine Barnes
Many people today wouldn't mind the high cost of goods and services so much if the high costs were matched with high quality. This is especially true of car owners who have frequent car repair.

No one likes to receive those car repair bills, but it's even worse when one discovers that the car still hasn't been fixed.

You can take certain precautions to see that the money you spend is for high-quality service. First, ask friends, relatives and acquaintances which garage or mechanic they recommend. Then go to the garage that is most highly recommended when you need some minor work done on the car.

If the job is performed to your satisfaction and within the agreed price, keep going back to the same garage for all your work. Once a mechanic knows you personally, he's liable to give you a little extra effort.

When you bring your car to a mechanic, always give a detailed description of the symptoms of the car's problems, but never diagnose the problem yourself.

If you guess "dirty carburetor" out loud, chances are good you'll get a clean carburetor whether it needs cleaning or not. So let the mechanic diagnose, the problem and let him give you an estimate to repair costs.

Of course, an estimate is just an estimate. Like a surgeon when operating, the mechanic may find additional problems once he gets into the body of your car.

For that reason, you should be sure to say that no major repair should be done without your authorization.

Whether you bring your car in for major or minor repairs, it's a good idea to note the odometer reading, so that you can compare the mileage when your vehicle is returned. This will show if the car was road tested.

It could also mean, however, that the mechanic drove your car to the local diner for lunch. Again, it's a good idea to know the people you're dealing with.

Keep a record of services and repairs on your vehicle along with a folder of receipts.

This way, if something is repaired twice within a short period of time you'll have evidence that shoddy workmanship was performed the first time.

Maintaining a car isn't cheap these days, but if you get quality service for the price you pay, it's worth it. So be a cautious consumer. By following these tips, you'll have a better chance of getting satisfactory service.

Planting Time Here
What a farmer does the rest of April will affect crops throughout the growing season.

If farmers will use these proven practices to the best of their ability, I believe they can increase yields and lower production costs in 1980.

Fertilize according to crop needs based on a soil test to take the guesswork out of lime and fertilizer requirements.

Delay planting until soil and climatic conditions are right.

Prepare a good seedbed and do everything necessary to get a good stand with the first planting.

Plant the best seed available. High quality seed and good drainage are especially important for good stands of early plantings.

Apply nitrogen as near to the time the crop will use it as is practical.

Know the weed problems of each field and the chemicals needed to control them.

Farmers are a dedicated group, and with any luck at all, I know they will produce a successful crop in 1980.

Cattlemen Short Course: At MSU

Mississippi State University's first cattlemen's short course is set for May 12-14. The program will center on cow-calf production and will be taught by Extension, MAFES and animal scientists.

If you plan to attend, come by the county Extension office for a copy of the programs and a registration form. Deadline for registration is May 1.

Mulching Vegetable or Flower Gardens

Organic mulch will help your vegetable or flower garden. Organic mulches can keep weeds down, reduce evaporation and soil compaction, and keep vegetables and flowers clean. Drainage and soil texture improve with each passing year.

Don't underestimate the amount of mulching material required. A 300 square foot garden requires two to three cubic yards of mulch to provide a two to three inch blanket, needed to smother weeds.

Trees Add to the Landscape
Trees add to the landscape of your home. Trees in home lawns need to be fertilized every year or two to keep them healthy and attractive. Fertilize trees now and at the end of May for best results.

Shaving was a weekly ordeal with old-fashioned razors

An old friend came by to see me the other day. He was in high spirits, happy as could be.

He said his doctor had prescribed for him something he had wanted all his life. He said the doctor told him to keep out of the hot summer sun, to quit work, and get plenty of rest.

While here this old friend told me of a fish he had caught the other day. According to the way he told it, it was the biggest fish he ever saw. He had a picture made of this big fish. He said the fish was so big that the picture weighed 5 1/2 lbs.

It is good to see a man, especially an old man, so jolly and who is taking life so calmly and serenely. This old gentleman told me that only one thing was bothering him now.

"What," I asked, "is bothering you now?"

His answer was, "widows." Since the old man had a heavy beard on his face I asked him, "Have you lost your razor?"

His reply, "Shaving regularly is too much trouble." That expresses why most of the old timers wore beards.

Both my grandfathers wore beards. I never saw either one of them with a shaven face.

Back when I grew up in the late 1800s and early 1900s, so far as I knew, there were no such things as safety razors. The only way to shave was with an old time straight razor.

To me shaving with one of these old time razors was quite a task—or I might say, an ordeal.

When I began to turn from a boy into a man and the beard began to grow on my face, I began to realize that my time to begin to shave had come, as I did not want to grow a beard.

At a time that no one would see me, I slipped out on the side porch where my father kept his shaving tools and appliances, and proceeded to take my first shave.

I did not strap the razor as I always saw my father do, but put the lather on my face and proceeded to shave.

This first shave was a bloody one, but after several attempts to hold the old razor at the right angle, I finally got through the ordeal.

Apparently not wanting anyone so clumsy as myself using his razor, my father bought a razor for me exactly like his. From that time on I gradually became fairly expert in the management and use of a straight razor.

I gradually learned the art of strapping my razor to keep it keen and efficient. I also learned to use the fine whetstone for honing my razor.

Even with all my newly acquired skill in the use of my razor, I never shaved without cutting myself at least a time or two, with at least a little bit of blood, sometimes more than others.

Back in the old days, so far as I ever knew, no one shaved every day as they do now.

For one thing shaving took too much time, with all the preparation and strapping of the razor and after all that the cleaning and care of the razor.

Out where we lived most of the shaving and cutting of hair in our family and in our neighborhood was done on Saturday afternoon and Sunday.

If one had driven around in that thickly settled farm community back in the old days, he most likely would have seen, in comfortable weather, a good part of every family on the front porch, getting hair cuts, shaving, etc.

There was no such thing as a barbershop in the area where we lived until about 1905. Before I ever saw a barber shop.

My Mother did all the hair cutting in our family, and she was good at it. When my son, Grady Jr., was a small boy, for several years he spent a month each year during the summer visiting my old home up in Jasper county.

They liked to have him, and he looked forward every year to the time to go see grandma and grandpa. He and his grandpa had a big time together.

They played tricks on one another. One summer, when he returned home, his mother met him at the depot here in Picaune.

When she saw him get off the train, she saw his hair cut; she said, "It's terrible."

The first thing she did was to take him to the barber shop and get his hair trimmed. She asked him, who in the world cut your hair, he said Grandpa.

I got my first safety razor in 1909.

Book Review

Compiled by Sherry Schwabacher
Library Staff

The following books are now available at any branch of the Hancock County Library System.

DARKNESS VISIBLE by William Golding (author of LORD OF THE FLIES). A boy steps out of the flaming destruction of the London Blitz miraculously alive, but orphaned and hideously scarred for life.

A MORE INNOCENT TIME by Eugenie Hill. This sensitively written novel presents the moving story of a young man's passion for an older woman, tackling the literary cliché and making of it a heartbreaking tale of erotic enchantment.

NIGHT OF THE AUROCHS by Dalton Trumbo. The story of a Nazi whose destiny was to become the commandant of the concentration camp at Buchenwald, and "wholly unrepentant, even in his old age."

SMILEY'S PEOPLE by John le Carre. The final, convulsive confrontation between George Smiley and Karla, his mortal enemy (and opposite number) inside the Soviet Union. A profoundly satisfying successor to le Carre's two great best sellers, TINKER, TAILOR, SOLDIER, SPY and HONOURABLE SCHOOLBOY.

THE COSGROVE REPORT by G.J.A. O'Toole. Both a gripping historical thriller, and a new and entirely plausible solution to that still unanswered question: Why was Abraham Lincoln murdered? A marvelous tour de force as well as an imaginative excursion into what might have been.

THIS I BELIEVE by Lawrence Welk. The story of Lawrence Welk's philosophy and how he uses it to run his business and take care of his "musical family."

GULF STAR by Kim Barlett. A tough, no-bull, intuitive Yankee gives an inside view of one of the world's most specialized, physically demanding, and highly paid job—that of the men who work the offshore oil rigs.

NO JOB FOR A LADY BY M. Phyllis Lose, V.M.D. The story of one of America's leading equine veterinarians and how she turned her childhood passion for horses into an important career at a time when most of our nation's veterinary schools were saying "no women need apply."

JAMES HERRIOT'S YORKSHIRE by James Herriot. A guided tour with the beloved veterinarian through the land of ALL CREATURES GREAT AND SMALL, gloriously photographed and memorably described.

BEHIND JAPANESE LINES by Richard Dunlop. The story of a young man who fought in Detachment 101, who fought a guerrilla war in China and Burma for almost three years.

Nail In... As an object 3/8" in diameter or less passes through the tire tread and sealant, it becomes coated with sealant which sticks tightly to it.

Nail Out... When the puncturing object is removed from the tire, the sealant is pulled into the hole in the tread.

Result... The sealant fills the hole, keeping the tire from going flat though there may be a slight loss of air as the object is pulled out.

HERE'S WHAT IT MEANS TO YOU:

Added Highway Safety. A flat tire is at best inconvenient and at worst can be a real safety hazard. The Royal Seal is designed to substantially reduce flat tire situations and, thereby increase highway safety.

Fewer Vehicle Stops. Because most tread punctures are permanently sealed, Royal Seal reduces your chances of a flat to once every six years of driving.

Long Tire Life. The Royal Seal radial is less susceptible to puncture damage so you can expect it to last longer.

Tire Repair Savings. Owning a tire that seals punctures reduces costly repairs and saves you money.

Temperature Dependability. The sealant does its job at temperatures from -30°F to +100°F.

Tests Show It Automatically and Permanently Sealed 90% of Tread Punctures 3/8" or Less. The Royal Seal tire contains a patented rubber sealant compound under the tread area. Independent test data showed 90% of tread punctures are caused by objects 3/8" or less in diameter. Royal Seal tires are not designed to seal punctures larger than 3/8" in diameter.

Plus... It's A UNIROYAL Steel-Belted Radial That Offers You Better Wear, Fuel Economy, and Improved Ride & Handling Over Non-Radial Passenger Tires.

The Bay-Klin-Waveland Boxing Club recorded three wins and two draws in five matches Saturday night in a Southern Amateur Athletic Association-sanctioned match at the Disabled American Veterans Hall in Bay St. Louis.

The match will be the final home contest for the local boxing squad, and will probably be the final series of bouts in South Mississippi prior to the Junior Olympics in Shreveport, La.

Todd Rooks, in a main event rematch of a March 8 match against Gulfport's Richard Morgan, overpowered his opponent and evaded a potentially devastating left lead to win the unanimous decision.

The match literally became a slugfest in the second and third rounds as both pugilists stood toe-to-toe and exchanged blows, Morgan receiving the most damaging blows.

At two points in the match Morgan retreated to a neutral corner complaining of an injury to the right top section of his head.

Ringside Doctor M.J. Wolfe examined Morgan and declared him physically capable of continuing the fight.

In the junior main event, Mike McClain of the Bay-Klin-Waveland Club dominated the ring against Donny Dorsey of Marrero, La. to win a unanimous decision against that opponent.

McClain used the full ring in defeating Dorsey, battering his opponent from one corner to the next.

In another fight involving a local boxer, Nicky Slade of the BKW squad fighting in the heavyweight division upset Johnny White of the Biloxi Boxing Club.

White, a 23-year-old boxer, hurt the 17-year-old Slade with body shots, but most of those punches were to the kidney and back and did not count as scoring shots.

Slade, on the other hand, outnumbered the visiting heavyweight with blows to the face and front of the body to win the unanimous decision.

In exhibition boxing, Ronnie Peterson II of the Bay-Klin-Waveland squad battled Jeff Hebert of Marrero to a draw.

Both pugilists exhibited fine movement and determination in the slugfest, and both received trophies for their talents.

Also meeting in the exhibition class were four-year-olds Chris (Fat Boy) Whisenhunt of the BKW team and Mike Bivalequa of the Marrero squad.

The bout between the two tykes proved to be a crowd pleaser, and the mini-pugilists displayed their enjoyment over being the center of attention with smiles throughout the bout.

Both boxers received trophies for their efforts.

Bay-Klin-Waveland Boxing Coach John Whisenhunt said he was "very pleased" with the way his boxers fared at the meet.

The meet was sponsored and funded by the DAV Ladies' Auxiliary of Bay St. Louis.

Officiating in the ring for the duration of the bout was Fred Goltz of Long Beach.

Other judges scoring the matches were Steve Lepona, Eugene Moran, and Mack Hall, all of Biloxi.

OUTDOOR TOPICS

Should you go fishing, or will it rain? Every angler wonders what the weather will be when he goes fishing.

You can predict weather fairly accurately by observing natural indicators, say Mercury outboards' fishing experts. Here are some of their suggestions which can be put into practice at home.

First, they recommend you keep an inexpensive weather station set up in your yard. Two instruments are needed.

A recording barometer will tell you the atmospheric pressure and how it has changed, while a wind vane will show wind direction.

Falling barometric pressure indicates weather change within the next 24 hours, usually for the worst.

Rising pressure indicates change, usually for the better. A wind vane predicts from where the change will likely come.

Study cloud formations and shapes. Three types will forecast rain in the near future.

Nimbostratus are low, uniform clouds whose base is less than 2,000 feet above the ground. They signal steady, light rain to come.

"Cumulus congestus" clouds are heavy, white to gray, puffy clouds with round tops and flat bases, packed thickly together. They forecast moderate to heavy rain within a few hours.

Cumulohimbus are an extension of congestus. Their mass rises in the sky sometimes to 50,000 feet.

They have an anvil shape, are gray to black and warn you that

BOATING TOPICS
 by Bob Brewster
 FRONT-WHEEL-DRIVE TRAILERING
 Many a boating enthusiast these days finds himself wondering how front wheel drive will work out for towing boat trailers.

According to the MerCruiser stern drive boating experts, there's little need to wonder or worry. As far as open-road trailering is concerned, there appears to be practically no difference in pulling ability, steering and braking characteristics. For good ride and stability, modern cars have more weight on their front wheels than on the rear ones. When rear-wheel-drive cars are on steep inclines such as boat launching ramps, there is a rearward shift of car weight that puts a little more load on the rear wheels to good advantage when hauling out. While the owner of a front-wheel-drive car might some day find himself on an unusually steep ramp, in a majority of cases the difference in traction caused by weight shift toward the rear wheels will be negligible. Actually, in many cases front wheel drive can be advantageous. The drive wheels will remain on drier, firmer ground especially when at unpaved ramps. When shopping for your first front-wheel-drive car, insist that the salesman show you any literature the manufacturer may have provided on trailering. Read this literature so that you understand exactly what each particular car maker does and does not advocate with regard to towing trailers.

Your South Central Bell telephone directory is the everything book! In it you'll find the numbers for people, places, things, travel, fix-it, and other handy-dandy information. The easiest, fastest way to find the telephone numbers you want is to LOOK IN THE BOOK. Once you find a number you need, make it easy to find the next time you need it. Underline it, circle it, mark it with a colored pencil, write it in the margin, or turn down the corner of the page. Another easy way to keep a record of—and find—frequently called numbers is to write them in a personal directory or on the Quick List in your directory. Whichever way you choose to find the numbers you call, keep the number source up to date and close by the phone. Here are some tips to help you find names and numbers in your directory. Use the heading at the top of each page to locate the desired page. Check cross reference listings for names you aren't sure how to spell. For example, above the "Neal" listing there might be a cross reference to "Neel" or "Neil." Certain abbreviations are listed alphabetically as though they were spelled out. "Mt." would be listed under "Mount" and "St." would be listed under "Saint." Listing names can be full names, initials, or nicknames. "William Jones" could also be listed as "W. R. Jones" or "Bill Jones." Initials are listed before first names. For example, "Smith, J.T." would be listed before "Smith, James." Names that begin with numbers are listed alphabetically as though spelled out. For example, "1-Day Cleaners" would be listed under "One-Day Cleaners." Your telephone directory has many other useful extras—emergency numbers, area codes, local and long distance dialing information, and your complete shopping guide, the South Central Bell Yellow Pages. LOOK IN THE BOOK—the more you use it, the more valuable it gets.
